APRIL 26, 1873.

THIS JOURNAL PAPER.—Value it to yourselves to make it worthy of its support, and exact from it as a high toned, respectable character as you would do from any educator in your midst. It is in no sense to merit notice and care—for it is your representative. Indeed, in its character, it is the summation of the importance, interest and welfare of your town. It is the aggregate of your own consequence, and you cannot ignore it without misery by depreciating yourselves.—New York Times.

It seemed impossible a month ago that we should have a dry Summer and that agricultural enterprize might be crippled for want of water. But the recent snowfall and especially the copious fall of the present week, taken together change the prospect. We may now regard the grass-crops as ensured to us even if we have no more rain—for a while; and it is likely that we shall have abundance of water, both in the streams and from the wells, throughout the Summer, for farming purposes. The Mountains—our grand reservoirs—have a large quantity of snow upon them, the fall having been general throughout the country to the west of us. In Fair-play they have about six inches of snow in California Gulch, there is about three feet in Breckinridge and Granite, heavy snow has fallen, and there is at least five feet on the Range. We may, therefore, confidently anticipate that the fountain and its numerous tributaries will bring an abundance of water for irrigating. It is not unlikely, however, that irrigation may do very much as little needed as it was last year. Though our own Territory has had no excess of snow or wintry weather, the Winter has generally been a very severe one and the snowfall unusually large. This is in some sort a guarantee that the Summer will be a rainy one, and we shall probably get our fair share of the rain when the time comes.

A prosperous season for the Farmer and the Gardener will be a blessing to our Town in a very considerable extent, and the prospect of such a season is one on which we may all congratulate ourselves.

The Road from Colorado Springs to Manitou ought to be the best road in the whole Territory, instead of which, it is probably about the very worst; and no one of those who ought to see it in good order seem to be at all concerned about the matter.

The portion of it within the city limits is no better than the rest. A new bridge has been built over the Monument—the brush has been cleared away so that vehicles may pass along, and we perceive a couple of cube barrels have been run down to show which is the road. That is all. As a consequence the piece of road leading to the new bridge is just a little worse than the rest, and carriages are plunged in the midst of clouds of dust. On either hand is a desolate looking tangle of broken bottles, interspersed with empty fruit and oyster cans, broken crockery, and other rubbish which not only offends the eye, but the nose also. Of course, when the trees put out their foliage, things will have a little better appearance, but at present they will be bad enough.

Now, to begin with the approach, to this new bridge ought to be put into thorough order. A firm, well graded road ought to be provided, and fence run along each side where it passes through the brush and the rubbish and old, at once cleared away. When that be done, we shall have the beginning of a good road, and some hope that those who have charge of the portion beyond will follow suit.

But that costs a considerable sum of money!

Certainly it will; and the sooner a considerable sum of money is spent upon it the better. We must look out for it as a pleasant place of resort for travelers from the East, and we must be prepared to do our best to make it so.

Let the Town of Colorado Springs take no action in this matter, and do its own part well, and then press upon the County Commissioners the urgent importance of putting the whole of the road into thorough repair without further delay. We now, as a Town, have a small share of power in the County to the extent of two votes at the Commissioners, and we need no hesitance to do so when necessary.

The road is at present a disgrace to the County, and ought not to be allowed to remain so.

We understand that a scheme for the establishment of a Canning Factory at this point, which was set on foot last year, will not be lost sight of.

Old settlers concur that this section is especially suited to the growth of small fruits, and the industry should be fostered to the fullest extent. Every acre of land around the Town might support a family, and thus a thousand families of producers be added to our population.

The home demand would swallow up quite a large proportion of what would be raised, part of course not nearly the whole of another market would be needed. It's would be greater at once by the establishment of a Canning Factory, where the extra production could be put up for shipment to the mountains, to neighboring towns, and even to points outside our Territory.

The first thing to do, however, is to raise produce for our own requirements.

Mr. Wm. Jackson, acting Vice-President of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway has gone up to Denver to tender a special train to General Grant and party, for the purpose of visiting Colorado Springs. It is to be hoped that the President and Mrs. and Miss Nellie Grant will be able to spare the time necessary to make the visit. Should they be able to do so, we are certain that they will be received with all due honor, and welcomed with a foreign cordiality.

A rough estimate which we made the other day shows that there are now improvements upon the Town Site of Colorado Springs to the amount of about $350,000. This is pretty good for eighteen months work. Unless we are mistaken, by fall we shall have at least a million dollars worth of improvements here before another growing season has elapsed.

Rev. Thomas Harwitz, so long and favorably known as President of the Pan-Handle Railroad, and now a resident of Philadelphia, has just engaged rooms for himself and family at the Manitou House. They are expected to arrive in the second week of June, and intend to spend the Summer at Manitou.

On Wednesday night last, about fifteen couples assembled in the Dining Room of the Manitou House, and enjoyed a social dance which was kept up until some time past midnight. After the dancing a few glees were sung by some of the party, and altogether a pleasant time was spent.

C. Pennington, who has just moved to his new ranche eight miles east of Town, has sunk three wells, in each of which he has fifty feet of good water. He proposes to raise water by windmill power, and irrigate his land. Everything seems to point to the probability of the country first of us being rapidly brought into use, not only for stock but for cultivation. This will give us a very large agricultural population.

The guests at the Manitou House received much amusement on Tuesday evening from the entry into the ladies parlor of four of the visitors dressed in costumes to represent Miss Flora McKinsey and her servant Dinah, a Japanese boy and an Irishwoman with fourteen small children, the ones being only four years of age. The fun was an exceedingly amusing character. Much merriment was occasioned by the guesses as to which of the lady guests were disguised by the costumes, a puzzle which took considerable time to solve.

The County Officers having given the Town Trustees the privilege to choose a location in any part of Town for the new School building, the latter have made choice of six lots on the corner of Cascade Avenue and Kiowa Street. In making the selection they have been governed to some extent by a desire to add to the good appearance of the Town as seen from the Railway, and the erection of a handsome building on the spot chosen will certainly make a vast improvement in the appearance of the Town near it as was a stranger. The selected location is not quite in the centre of the Town, as it at present exists, but that is no matter of much consequence, as we have very little bad weather to prevent children from taking a moderate walk. We shall be pleased to see an early beginning made for the erection of the building.

We earn that Mr. H. A. McEntire has resigned his position as Manager of the Colorado Springs Hotel, and will cease to be connected with it after May 15th, he having accepted an appointment as Manager of the Ocean Springs Hotel, at Bewaukee, about twenty miles from Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Mr. McEntire has been connected with the Colorado Springs Hotel for nearly a year and a half, having had charge of it from the time it was opened, which was almost at the very beginning of the Town itself, and he has succeeded in gaining for the Hotel a good reputation and a large wide. We understand that his appointment has been offered to him through the influence of Mr. N. P. Ingersoll, who is president of the company owning the Ocean Springs Hotel. This Hotel is on the Bewaukee Lake, and is a favorite Summer Resort for people from Chicago and Milwaukee. Pleasure seekers will run upon the lake in connection with it. The Hotel is a large four story building, and accommodates about two hundred and fifty guests. We understand that Mr. McEntire only goes for the Summer, and that he will return to Colorado Springs in the Fall. His friends will wish him much success in his new enterprise.

Thomas Hughes was also to have lectured at a meeting of the Trustees held on Monday evening.

Major Warner, Author of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway, is confined to his house by a severe carbuncle affection.

Mr. Grinnell has returned from the Arkansas, bringing with him a quantity of dried buffalo, which he had the pleasure of shooting, preparatory to the drying process.

Our Postmaster has been notified that Colorado Springs has been made a Money Order Office of the Second Class. Business will be commenced as soon as the necessary arrangements have been completed.

The number of passengers carried over the Denver and Rio Grande Railway each day of the weeks ending April 20th were as follows: April 14th, 99; 15th, 120; 16th, 101; 17th, 105; 18th, 113; 19th, 118; 20th, 90.

Messrs. Wilson, Grimble & Co. have just received a large stock of fine horses which they have put into their Livery business. They are now prepared to meet the large Summer demand which will doubtless take place.

Mr. W. F. Austin, of Chicago, who has just returned home, has made considerable addition to his property in the neighborhood of Colorado Springs. He now owns about 12,000 acres immediately to the east of Town.

A couple of ladies grew "sea-sick" the other day, coming down from Manitou in the coach. They thought they had not had such a rocking since the days of their boyhood. When is that road to be made to gently undulate?

Messrs. Sweet & Co. have just sold the vacant lot between Dr. Wright's stone building and Mr. Barker's store, on Tejon Street, for six hundred and fifty dollars.

Commissioners who have held their first two months will see, from an advertisement in our columns, that they are requested to give proof of improvements and to pay up the balance due (if any) without delay.

Mr. Simmons has just completed a large map of the Town Site, which now hangs in the Colony Office. This will much facilitate reference, as it is interesting to look it over, and notice how large a proportion of the lots have already been purchased.

Mr. A. W. Barker has been taking a series of views in the Cheyenne Cañons, and has secured some capital pictures. The view in the North Cañon will be unanimously voted perfect, as it is scenery accessible to ordinary adventurers. It contains some very fine scenery, and a little trail up it will be made before long, when another group of scenic beauties will be thrown open to our visitors.

As an index of the business being done at this point, we may mention that Mr. Allison, the Railway Agent, reports the receipts here of 15 car loads of freight on Thursday of last week, 11 on the following day, and 11 on Tuesday last; large consignments being also received on each of the other days of the week.

Numbers of teamsters are actively pushing the freighting business between here and South Park, &c., and are doing a large amount of work. Last week they carried 45,000 pounds of freight to Fairplay, setting out 22 teams. Nearly all the freight for Park, Lake, and Summit Counties now goes by this route, and the business is likely to assume very large proportions. We understand that a large quantity of ore from the South Park Mines, is likely to be shipped during the summer by way of Colorado Springs or Denver and the East.

The Street Commissioner is continually looking round, and people had better attend to the notice issued by the Town Trustees, which requires them to keep clean the ditches in front of their premises, and otherwise promote the neatness and cleanliness of the Town. This should be more a matter of pride with our citizens. We have already quite a large number of strangers in Town, and it ought to be our determination that they shall carry away with them as favorable an impression of the place as possible. A little attention and labor on the part of each householder will put things into good shape and keep them so.

There is still room for the erection of more Hotels and Boarding Houses before the Season fairly opens, and we advise any of our friends who are looking out for investments to turn their attention in that direction. In this connection, we may state that our first-class lots have been reserved on the Town Park, which will be given to anyone who will put up a first-class Hotel, say with five-and-twenty or more sleeping-rooms, on them. The lots are in the very best locality in the Town,—namely, facing on Tejon Street and the Upper Park Square.

We are making arrangements for the publication of a handsome Tourist Guide Book to Colorado Springs and the Scenery in the neighborhood. We believe that it will be a great convenience to the strangers who come here, and back will be the means of largely increasing the number of our visitors. We propose to publish a large edition, and as our citizens who have anything to advertise,—especially Hotel or Boarding-house keepers—should see to it without delay. We shall be pleased to receive advertisements at an early date, as the Guide Book will be issued in a few days.

Ten coloreds arrived by Thursday's train.

When are we going to see Pike's Peak again?

Mr. J. H. Steward is about to erect a store and residence on Tejon Street, between Pikeview and Vermejo Streets.

Twenty-three arrivals at the Colorado Springs Hotel on Tuesday last, and twenty-three at the Manitou House on Wednesday.

The new Town Secretary is not idle. Entry into office by impounding a peach of a calf and calves on the very first day, and now somebody sees that we shall be obliged to have either a larger Pound or a smaller Secretary.

An entertainment was given at the Las Animas House on Saturday evening last by Professor Reynolds and his troupe. There was a full house, and those present were much entertained by the clever sleight of hand of the Professor and by the dancing and other performances of Miss Wells.

A strange sight was seen in Colorado Springs last Tuesday morning—a man carrying an open umbrella.

Capt. S. D. Breece, one of Colorado's most successful mining men, who has just returned from the East, has brought with him some fine blooded dairy Cattle, which he intends to put on his ranche in South Park.

We are afraid that some of the newly-planted trees are going to fail unless they have water given to them before long. A little deepening of the flow-furrows (which at present do duty for ditches along the cross streets) and a little daily care to see that the water flows through them is all that is needed.

Mr. Weitbrec, of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway, was out the other day on business, and managed to run through about $6,000. Railways have a reputation for being extravagant. It is fair to say, however, that he paid several men their wages.

The two rectories on the corner of Tejon and Pikeview Streets have just been sold to Judge James McFerran of Jefferson, Mo. Judge McFerran is under obligation to erect thereon a good stone building, which will be a great improvement to that part of the Town. We understand that he intends to engage in banking.

Mr. R. Nelson Clark, of the Union Coal Mines, has been paying a visit to Colorado Springs this week. He reports a large demand for coal, and has been quite busy all along, notwithstanding the very large proportion of fine warm weather which we have had.

New houses continue to spring up in nearly all parts of the Town. We heard a contractor say the other day that business was driving. Whenever we hear a man say that things are driving in his own line of business, we believe him.

Mr. Benjamin Crowell has just received about 9,000 pounds of wire, with which he proposes to fence his Ranche—of 1,320 acres—on Sand Creek, about two-and-a-half miles below Town.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Dwight, who spent the greater part of the Winter at the Colorado Springs Hotel, left Denver for the East in the early part of the present week. We are glad to report that Mr. Dwight has been much improved in health through his sojourn in the Territory, and will doubtless be the means of sending others to derive like benefits.

Mr. Samuel Hanse, of South Park, sold and delivered to Mr. Henry Freeman this week, ten head of the American cattle, which weighed over 15,000 pounds.

About three-score Mining Claims have already been filed (in accordance with the new Mining Law) with our County Clerk, and there seems to be a chance that El Paso County may take a place amongst the Mining Counties of the Territory. Some of the ore which has been got out near the surface, has been examined by competent miners, and is said to be of good quality, and to discover richer ore further down. Time, however, can alone settle the question.

The Odd Fellows of Colorado Springs (Manitou Lodge, No. 38) celebrated the forty-second anniversary of their order by a Grand Ball at the Stage House last Wednesday evening. About nine o'clock, the members, wearing the insignia of the order, marched from their Lodge to the House, and shortly afterwards dancing commenced. About fifty couples were present. Music was furnished by Downing's Band, and dancing was kept up with great spirit. About one o'clock, supper was served, Mr. Simmons presiding before his guests an exceedingly bountiful and well-selected bill of fare. After supper, dancing was resumed, and was kept up with great spirit to the morning. Between the dances, some of the ladies and gentlemen of the party favored those who were present with some exquisite social music, and the gathering was altogether a very pleasant one. The guests were much indebted to Mr. A. H. Barker for his efficient services as Floor Manager, and to Mr. Simmons, the host of the House, for the very good style in which all his arrangements were carried out.—A second ball is to be held on Friday evening, celebrating the anniversary of the Odd Fellowship. Also signalized the opening of the large house, which is now ready for the reception of guests. The House is well managed, and comfortably furnished throughout, and we have little doubt but that Simmons will give a successful ball who patronizes him.

We were awoke in the early hours of the morning by the sweet singing of a party of serenaders. They sang very creditably about "Home, Sweet Home," and we most devoutly wished that they would go there.

Last Sunday evening as a visitor was driving home his buggy from Manitou, the horse put his foot through a hole in one of the bridges, and lamed himself severely. But we fear that there will have to be a few tracks broken before the roads and bridges are put into a passably safe condition.

A committee from Cañon City, consisting of Messrs. S. H. Allen, Thomas Bacon, and E. M. Weed, had a conference on Tuesday last with the officers of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway, regarding the extension of their line from the present terminus at Labran to Cañon City. We understand that they were assured that should the citizens of Fremont County vote the bonds asked for by the Railway Company, Cañon City will be able to boast of Railway Communication within six months from the date of the signing of the bonds with a Trustee agreed upon.

We learn that one of our citizens went to a Grocery Store in Town the other day and purchased five and a half pounds of sugar. Out of curiosity, he weighed it as soon as he got home, and found it came to about one pound and a half ounces. The grocer doesn't wish his customers to patronize some other store, he must be better provided himself with a more generous set of weights.

On Tuesday last, a party consisting of Governor Hunt and wife, Miss Kellogg and Miss Lovell, of Denver; General Clark and wife, Mr. Clark and wife, and Miss Clark, of Chicago; and Mr. Sovereign and wife, came down the Denver and Rio Grande, in a special car, and, after dining at the Colorado Springs House, proceeded to Pueblo. Governor Evans and Messrs. Evans returned to Denver the next day, but the rest of the party decided to spend two or three days at Manitou, and returned to Denver on Friday afternoon by special train.

The struggle for the Mayoralty is becoming somewhat keen up in the North. The Greeley Sun gives the following piece of gossip, which one of the girls imparted to her lover, viz:—"That our absent Pet Coyote contributors had engaged a 'planner' to snatch new comers from the 'Saints' Rest' at Greeley, his brands from the burning, and coax them up to the agricultural colony (in order that the gentlemanly and benevolent directors and executives may realize their salaries—and why not?")

Last Saturday afternoon, a pair of horses attached to a loaded straw wagon, became frightened and started along Tejon Street at a tremendous pace. They approached a few shade trees and scattered nearly the whole of their load before they were caught, but fortunately they did no more mischief. On Monday another team ran away, but were stopped before they had gone much further. So far our runaways have fortunately resulted in very little serious injury, but it is time that some means of preventing such occurrences should be adopted. Runaways are continually happening, and we may have any day to record a fatal accident in consequence. A heavy fine should be imposed on people leaving teams unhitched, or without proper care. Will our Town Trustees attend to this matter?

We keep a dog or two ourselves, therefore we want no very harsh measures directed against the canines. But if somebody would kindly undertake to shoot a few dogs found roaming about Town late, say, of evenings or nights, we would take it as a personal favor, and a great many other people would do the same. There are a few of the brutes—something less, perhaps, than a hundred—which seem to remain about the Town and scour the night, for the express purpose of disturbing the sleep of good citizens. We believe some of the said good citizens will soon earn to swear unless something be done.—The person who undertakes to shoot the dogs would do well to have the work also in hand a few of the individuals who limit the small hours of the morning to proper time to practice vocal music.

One of the GAZETTE staff was obliged to leave work the other night, when the Good Templars were holding a meeting overhead. We suppose that accounts for the following poem having found its way into our proofs:

"Temperance people sore me awfully,
Sore me awfully,
Sore me awfully.
Temperance people sore me awfully,
It really is too much.
They sing and read and walk about,
Talk and walk about,
Talk and walk about.
They sing and read and talk and walk about;
They nearly drive me mad.
They sing "Auld Lang Syne" and then "America,"
Then "America,"
Then "America."
They sing "Auld Lang Syne" and then "America"
Or else some other hymn.
And then a chapter on "the elements,"
On "the elements,"
On "the elements."
And then a chapter on "the elements"—
And then it's "Rousseau's Dream."
And they kiss! I'm not quite sure of that,
No, quite sure of that,
No, not quite sure of that,
And they kiss! I'm not quite sure of that;
But this I'm sure I know—
They sing and read and talk and walk about,
Talk and walk about,
Talk and walk about,
They sing and read and talk and walk about,
Sore me awfully."—Ed.

We confess that we are surprised, but we are not at all sorry, to see so many horses going up on the "outlying tracts." It is a good sign to see people settling down on their ten or twenty-acre patches.

Bacon has got a new Express Wagon—a little one—and is so elated up with contemplating and thinking about its beauties, that he can't hear anybody who wants him to do a day of hauling. Thus it is that riches are a temptation and a snare.

One of our Colony Officers had a quantity of grass seed sown the other day. The next morning when he looked out of his window, he wondered what on earth "those chickens" were so busy about. They were only looking whether the seed had begun to sprout.

If General Grant should come to Colorado Springs, it is to be hoped that he will time his visit so as to hit the Drawing next Thursday night, for of course he will want to take out a membership and locate a lot.

A Select School is to be opened on Monday next, in the old bank building, by Professor E. T. Rogers, A. M., of Alfred University, N. Y. It will be divided into two departments, Intermediate and Academic, and, as Professor Rogers claims to have had large experience in teaching, it will probably supply a lack which at present exists in Town.

COLORADO BREEZES.

Our climate is healthful in an eminent degree.

Our soil is exceedingly rich and wonderfully productive.

The culture of grapes and most kinds of fruits is easy and profitable.

Our rivers and streams of water afford unlimited water power for manufactories.

Our mines of gold and silver are known the world over.

Our deposits of iron, coal, lead, and copper, contain a supply of these useful minerals for many generations of men.

Our railways are extending in all directions and fast bringing us into communication with all parts of the country.

Our churches and schools give excellent facilities for social, religious and intellectual culture.

Our location is central—we are equally distant from the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts, from British America and Mexico.

Our mountains present the grandest scenery and the most sublime views.

Our mountains are covered with forests of pine, oak, poplar, and other trees.

Marble, limestone, and building stone of excellent quality abound in many parts of the Territory.

Our villages and cities are growing sturdily and rapidly into metropolitan proportions.

Stock growing is followed with a success equal to that of any country in the world.

Sheep raising is an easy and sure means of accumulating wealth.

Wheat, oats, corn, etc., are grown to great.

A good market is ever at hand for the products of the farmer.

Thousands of our citizens can testify to the relief afforded by our climate in search of health.

Pulmonary diseases if taken in the earlier stages scarcely ever fail of permanent cure, while those of longer standing almost always find relief, under the sunny sky and in the dry, pure atmosphere of this region.

Asthma and bronchial affections are cured by residence in Colorado.

Our climate affords relief to those disabled and enfeebled by sedentary pursuits in the crowded districts of the East.

Our days are sunny and pleasant, our nights clear and cool. There are no sleepless, hot summer nights.

Our mountain air is delightfully salubrious. There are no miasmata in the valleys, rich and fertile as the Nile.

Thermal springs abound in many localities, generally charged with medicinal properties.

Wild fruits are abundant and delicious in flavor.

Melons and vegetables attain enormous proportions and preserve the tenderness, sweetness and richness of the smaller growth of other portions of the country.

Our area embraces 150,000 square miles, or about 70,000,000 acres. Over 50,000,000 acres are yet to be disposed of.

Our mountain regions are dotted with many beautiful fresh-water lakes.

In the streams and lakes of Colorado the waters are pure and fresh, and abound in varieties of fish.

In the mountain regions deer, elk, and other game abound.

The soil of the valleys rests upon calcareous rocks, and consists principally of alluvial formations and deposits from the vast mountains of the west.

There is no Territory in the Union which affords more inviting attractions and inducements to capitalists, to laborers, in the mine, the field, the vineyard, and the manufactory.

To the emigrant is offered an opportunity to make a home where out-door labor is a pleasure three-fourths of the year, where the means of livelihood are sure, the gains of labor large and certain.

The Colorado of to-day is grand, energetic, young and hopeful. The Colorado of twenty-five years hence will be one of the most prosperous and mighty commonwealths of the United States of the Union, far exceeding the original visions of her most sanguine citizens.—Pueblo.

THE

CONDUCTED BY

PROFESSOR E. L. YOUMANS,

PUBLISHED BY

D. APPLETON & COMPANY,

NEW YORK.

THE GROWING IMPORTANCE OF SCIENTIFIC knowledge to all classes of the community calls for more efficient means of diffusing it. THE POPULAR SCIENCE MONTHLY has been started to promote this object, and supplies a want met by no other periodical in the United States.

It contains instructive and attractive articles, and abstracts of articles, original, selected and translations from the leading scientific men of different countries, giving the latest interpretations of natural phenomena, explaining the applications of science to the practical arts, and to the operations of domestic life.

It is designed to give especial prominence to those branches of science which help to a better understanding of the nature of man, and to assist the efforts of parents, educators and legislators in securing true conditions of society and government. How little value the ordinary forms of literature and opinion are affected by the addition of scientific matter will also be considered.

In its literary character, this Magazine will aim to be popular, without being superficial; and, while seeking to procure attractive statements from men who know how to write, and who will address the public for purposes of exposition and explanation,

THE POPULAR SCIENCE MONTHLY is published in a large octavo, handsomely printed in clear type, form. Price Fifty Cents per copy, or Five Dollars per annum in advance.

STUDIES.

Dr. Holland, in his Journal of Health for March, 1873, humorously discourses on the tendency of the times, as follows:

"The reader is great mistake if he thinks that every body is now dead and buried, and the world itself used up entirely, if the thousandth part of what is told us about microscopical and other discoveries is true. One man will have it that the glorious Union over which the stripes and stars float is already wholly rotten, and will soon become offensive also, to use a suggestive geometrical figure; another has discovered myriads of wriggling animalcules and waterfalls in the veins, bearing into the skin and sucking out all the remaining brains of the dear creatures. A German savan now tells us that every sip of tea we take is full of tiny globules which get into the lungs, weaken them, set up a deep cough, and cause symptoms of consumption. Another man tells us that the purest spring water is an air crystal in appearance, if not alone with deposit a sediment which generates typhoid fever; and he proves, that every body has a fruit growing within. Another says that bread has so rancid time in it that it is turning us into yeast, and makes us stiff in the joints, that being the reason we have no bills, so rightly to speak, now-a-days; and we are full of limps and rheumatics long before our time. Therefore we are better quit eating bread altogether, and live on rice and sago? not to speak of the water cure for insurance that no one and beans and ham and eggs are full of abominable trichinæ, and that, in fact one is swallowing, gets hardly nestled in the system, he sets on it will breed a million more in a short time, and that roast beef has juvenile tape worms in it. Another comes from Paris, and Harry, all among you, called cousin with microscopes and huge glasses to show us how slow and dull we are, that the air is swarming with living monsters and other beasts, which fly into the mouth and crawl up the nose and creep into the ear; hence it is death to breathe such close, confined air, and that the best way to see the moon is shut, plug up the nose, and run cotton into the ears.

"Even so many learned professional gentlemen have been returning poor figures for years to make known to the anxious folk that everybody is either crazy or soon will be; that the annual increase is 40 per cent., consequently in eleven years everybody will be crazy and more too.

"The fact is that the people who spend their time in hatching out these foul conceits ought to be put down and be made to earn an honest living. This work has been pretty well taken care of for some thousands of years, increasing my comfort and wealth and life, the average length of which has doubled within two centuries, and the population increased perhaps three-fold; and the presumption is that the Great Overruling Power will so arrange the antagonistic forces of life in the future as eventually to make room for a cheerful and solitary palace to be glad and the desert to rejoice and blossom as the rose, and the fittest to survive still.

"A fact more to the point, illustrating the necessity of cleanliness, and of keeping the pores of the skin open, that is a coat of varnish or other substance impervious to moisture cannot be applied to the exterior of the body, death will ensue in a few short six hours. The experiment was once tried on a convict in Florence by order of Pope Leo the Tenth's successor to the papal chair, it was desired to have a living figure representing the Golden Age, and a man's body was given up, covered with varnish and gilded. The child died in a few hours. Dressing of a rabbit in the skin of a pig or covering with a mixture of india rubber and gutta percha, the animal ceases to breathe in a few hours.

"Why, when Cardwarden, in Tom Houghton (formerly Richard Vonckton Madigan esq.) 'The Cool of the Evening,' being at his country seat one afternoon, in company with Count O'Grady, and hearing some chairmen of Gore House suppose calling up the name of Bellington, and Wellington exclaimed, 'Oh, yes, and I'll go with you,' exclaimed the Answered Count O'Grady, coolly, 'are you acquainted with my landsharpers?' 'No, but that's of no consequence, I'll accompany you, my dear fellow.' 'Then you shall,' rejoined O'Grady. 'You shall go with us, and I'll introduce you to Lady Blessington as the cool of the evening.' In what day to this Lord Bolingbroke has never been able to rid himself of a ruffle-decorated waistcoat. There are some things we won't never forgets.

A paper called the Spectator recites, by some wretch, has the audacity to say that no lady is ever conscious that a lady ever yet had the remotest idea of the duration of five minutes, or an hour, to any other longer or shorter space of time. Instead of the extreme intelligence of woman in matters of small importance, at which men are taught to regard as of vital importance, at which stands the superior sex as always and beyond the control of mere conventional rules. She is always late when she keeps an appointment; she devotes precious hours to dressing, and will any day lose a train for the sake of getting on her gloves. The odd thing is that she never thinks of the irritation which her causes by her disregard for the rules of punctuality.

Open questions in a house about trivial matters are like open bundles. Of which we hate out heavy cross. It is not seemly to be always discussing whether you shall drive or walk, dine to a guest or accept an invitation, wear white or black, write a letter, rub out a spot, be on speaking terms with a neighbor, or have honest acquaintance with any woman or man. Time is valuable, nerves are precious. "I cannot," said a man, making thousands every day, "I consume my strength in debates with boys whether they shall eat my grapes or run across my sacred lawn. Have no open questions to canvass upon, and generate in your affections a chronic disease. It is better to decide a case wrongly than to get into a wrong state of mind." You are sincere and conscientious in your respective views; do not, therefore, be tyrannical to insist and urge them past all patience, nor reopen the topic for bickering without cessation or fruit.—Dr. A. Barclay.

At the rear end of our parlor it was quite very dark. Indeed, we could see to read small newspaper print at the east big-tree pointe. At that point we put a wicket against the gas shape transferred to a point from the window. In four days it looked sicky; in two weeks it was yellow in the weeds it was apparently dead. Another plant was placed on the comfortable, which was across the way from the front windows to the position of the first plant. At the end of the week that other plant's green and was evidently dying. The girls in our parlor, who were out not more than an hour a day on an average, except they went to places of amusement in the evening, were as pale, yellow and sickly as the plants, and we think for the same reason—a scarcity of light.—Old Lessis.

An Essex street man sold a rich relative, belonging to a neighboring church, because it grew into his yard. The neighbor gave no demonstration. But he went home and sang the juveniles and told them that the one it belonged to could say "Shoes" and spoke of "Sick Susan" four times running, without mistake. So they went up to the house, in the gentlest manner possible, and the man received two dollars from the rich relative
